EINDE VAN DIT DEEL

FRANCIS CARIN
DAVID CARYN

Antwerpen, september 1914.

Aan de vooravond van de Tweede Wereldoorlog bombarderen de Duitsers de stad. Omer Desmedt is, samen met zijn vriend Louis de Meester, clandestien aan boord gegaan van een schip met bestemming Canada. Helaas loopt niet alles als gepland en wordt de boot gekaapt. In het Panamakanaal wordt het getorpedeerd door een Duitse onderzeeër. Omer en de rest van de bemanning spoelen aan op een eiland dat bewoond is door kannibalen. Omer mag dan wel gevlucht zijn voor de gruwel van de oorlog, hij ontsnapt niet aan andere gevaren. Ligt zijn toekomst hier, aan de andere kant van de wereld?

Dit tweede en laatste deel van Bloedvijanden, van het duo Carin en Caryn, is een mooie hommage aan de avonturenliteratuur van de negentiende eeuw.
